DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to under 37 CFR 1.71, as being so incomprehensible as to preclude a reasonable search of the prior art by the examiner. For example, the following items are not understood: There appears to be multiple embodiments of the present invention described in the specification in an interrelated fashion that fails to clearly support the claimed limitations.

Applicant is required to submit an amendment which clarifies the disclosure so that the examiner may make a proper comparison of the invention with the prior art.

Applicant should be careful not to introduce any new matter into the disclosure (i.e., matter which is not supported by the disclosure as originally filed).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this action is set to expire ONE MONTH or THIRTY DAYS, whichever is longer, from the mailing date of this letter.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

3. Claims 1-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. The claims include limitations involving first and second states as well as a switching mechanism that is not clearly supported by the specification.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 1-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

5. Claims 1-29 include limitations that appear to claim different entities in a duplicate fashion. For instance claim 1 contains a limitation that includes a switching mechanism coupled between the processor and the bridge, and claim 3 contains the limitation that includes a bridge coupled between the processor and the bridge. The claims and the specification fail to provide a clear explanation as to whether these elements are the same or provide a relationship between the given elements if they are to be considered separate.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

7. Claims 1, 2, 4 are rejected, to the extent understood, under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Frank, U.S. Patent No. 6,546,489. Referring to claims 1, 2, 4, Frank discloses a computer system that provides a secure boot procedure wherein a host microprocessor has an active state and an inactive state (Col. 5, lines 6-29 & Fig. 2). When in the inactive state, the host processor is prevented from accessing memory array, which meets the limitations of a processor, a bridge coupled to the processor, a memory selectably coupled to the bridge and the processor, and a switching mechanism coupled between the memory and each of the processor and the bridge, wherein the switching mechanism includes a first state providing access from the processor to the memory and a second state providing access from the bridge to the memory. The memory controller (Fig. 2, 339) would meet the specific limitation of the switching mechanism. Figure 2 shows control logic (334), which would meet the limitation of control logic couple to the switching mechanism for controlling changes between the first state and second state.

Claims 5-29 have not been examined with respect to the merits due to the indefiniteness of the specification and the claims and their failure to clearly point out Applicant's invention.
